ARRA Award Announcement

California High-Speed Rail Authority Chairman Issues Statement on Announcement of Stimulus Award

Chairman of the California High-Speed Rail Authority Curt Pringle joined Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger this morning in the City of Commerce to announce the award of $2.25 billion from the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act for California's high-speed intercity rail systems – the largest award for high-speed train funding of any state. Chairman Pringle released the following statement:

“This award is fantastic news for California and for our state’s high-speed rail project. It is an award that will lead to the creation of tens of thousands of quality jobs in the near-term and to continued economic strength and enhance our transportation network in the long term.

“This award will go toward specific projects, but it will benefit every single section of our planned high-speed rail system by moving this entire vision closer to reality - closer to being the first true high-speed rail system in the United States.

“California’s success in winning a significant portion of this federal funding, for which there was tremendous competition, is a tribute to our partnerships with our Legislature, with local governments, and to the hard work and leadership of Governor Schwarzenegger and California’s senators and congressional delegation. A California high-speed rail system truly gives each of us the opportunity to change the future of California for our children and grandchildren.”
